Shriners' Ball In New State Armory Was Great Success

Opening the new state armory to the social life of Kingston, the Shriners' ball for the benefit of the Industrial Home, Friday evening, was such a huge success as to far exceed even the most enthusiastic anticipations and hopes of the Kingston Shriners' Association and their friends. A perfect evening added to the pleasure of all.

Before the program and throughout the evening the guests explored the new armory and were exceedingly complimentary in their comments on this new home of the local military unit.

The large drill hall and its simple but highly appropriate decorations of American flags and pennants proved to be an ideal place for such a big ball as the Shriners always have, far quite aside from its delightful social features the people of Kingston and vicinity always rejoice to support this affair which so materially helps the board of managers of the Industrial Home to maintain this unique and ideal home for dependent children.

The handsome and brilliant hued gowns of the women shadowed by the conventional black of the men presented a more than usually vivid picture against the neutral tinted brick walls and the natural wood trimmings.

There was a large audience when Fred Van Deusen, acting as master of ceremonies, welcomed the guests on behalf of the Shriners, and expressed the appreciation of the board of managers of the Industrial Home for the great generosity of all who in any way contributed to the success of the evening.

Mr. Van Deusen then announced the program numbers. The Colonial chorists, Mrs. Arthur Wicks, Mrs. W. M. Mills, Joseph Craig and Vernon Miller, with Mrs. Ellingie at the piano, were first presented. Their singing of "Hail Smiling Morn" and "Moonbeams" was enthusiastically received and heartily applauded.

Mrs. Arthur Wicks, whose lovely voice always charms Kingston audiences, sang "Red Wings" and "The Delight of All."

The short program was brought to a brilliant close by Miss Ottilia Nicobono, accompanied by her brother at the piano and by Paul Zucca's orchestra, who give a vivid Spanish dance in costume.

Dancing was in order immediately following the program, with the two splendid local dance orchestras—John Erne's and Paul Zucca's—furnishing inspiring dance music until the early morning hours.

By ten o'clock in the evening the great floor space was filled to the limit of comfortable dancing, with the dancers expressing their pleasure in the music by their continual applause of first one and then the other orchestra.

At the same time the faces of Mrs. Philip Ellingie, president of the Board of Managers of the Industrial Home, as well as other members of the board and the Shriners in their gay fezzes were all smiles for they were assured of a goodly sum of money, every cent of which will be needed to carry on the increased needs of the Home with so many children to care for.

Almost as popular as the dance hall was the dining room, simply decorated, but where delicious refreshments were served throughout the evening. The ladies of the Board of Managers in charge were Mrs. S. M. Wette, Mrs. O. D. B. Ingalls and Mrs. John Forsyth, with Mrs. Harry R. LeFevre, Mrs. John G. Van Etten, and Mrs. Frank R. Powley responsible for the home made cake; Mrs. John B. Sterley, Mrs. A. D. Pardee, Mrs. William H. Van Etten, and Mrs. John W. Eckert looking after the lemonade and Mrs. L. Phelps, Mrs. Frank L. Eastman and Mrs. C. Ray Everett the ice cream committee.

The ladies' cloak room was very efficiently cared for by Mrs. M. H. Herzog, Mrs. Charles R. O'Connor and Mrs. M. R. Coutant.

While the ball itself is now but a very enjoyable memory to all, the sum realized will be bringing comfort and home care to the children who deprived of the care of their own homes know little difference from a home where one really "belongs," in the ideal home atmosphere of the Industrial Home.

Mrs. Resler Died Suddenly Friday

Friday afternoon while Mrs. Josephine Resler, 71, of 123 Second avenue, was walking along the street she suddenly collapsed and fell to the sidewalk in front of No. 530 Delaware avenue. J. F. Garrity of Catskill who was sitting in a parked car nearby saw her fall and jumping out of the car he ran to her side and picking her up carried her into the house in front of which she had fallen. The police department was notified and the ambulance rushed her to the Kingston Hospital where she was pronounced dead.

Mrs. Resler was the widow of John Resler, and had been a resident of this city for over forty years and had made many friends by her fine Christian character. She is survived by a son, Stanley F. Resler, a member of Company L, 2nd Infantry of Fort Brady, Michigan; three daughters, Mrs. Otto Albright, Mrs. Adam Dudyk and Mrs. Matthew Welschaupt, all of this city; and nine grandchildren. For many years she had been a faithful member of the Church of the Immaculate Conception. Funeral services will be held from the late home Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock and from the Church of the Immaculate Conception at 10 o'clock where a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of her soul. Interment in Mt. Calvary cemetery.

D. A. R. Withdrawal Stirs Peace Group

Washington, Jan. 21. (AP)—Withdrawal of the Daughters of the American Revolution from the Women's Patriotic Conference on National Defense, to be held here January 30, has thrown into a turmoil of talk the whole forefront of women's "peace" and "defense" causes.

It brought into sharp clash with the Daughters their former co-workers, the American Legion Auxiliary. It started a buzz about inner D. A. R. workings. It won applause from yesterday's closing session on the cause and cure of war conference.

On motion of Mrs. William Louis Dunne, historian general and publicity chairman, the Daughters voted last October to withdraw from the year 1933, from the conference, in which hitherto they had been the leaders.

Economy was the reason given in the resolution. Mrs. William Russell Magna, the president, said she had received hundreds of letters from women saying that, with their own congress to attend here in April, they could not afford to come to Washington in January to talk national defense, a policy to which the Daughters are definitely committed.

Mrs. S. Alford Blackburn, president of the American Legion Auxiliary, called Mrs. Magna's action a "double cross" and said her group would hold the conference whether or not.

Montagu Norman Weds Miss Worsthorne

London, Jan. 21. (AP)—Great Britain's chancellor of exchequer, picturesque Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, sprang his latest surprise this morning when his marriage to Miss Priscilla Worsthorne followed within a few hours the announcement of their engagement.

Just 17 minutes after the marriage could legally occur today he arrived at the dingy Chelsea District registry office for the ceremony. While Mr. Norman rolled up quite openly in a salon car, his fiancée's arrival was more secret. So was the disappearance of the bride and bridegroom after they were married. They slipped quietly out of a back door and vanished.

Capt. Stedman Saves 22 When Freighter Loses Battle To Gale

New York, Jan. 21. (AP)—The steamer American Merchant, knifed through evil, green seas, bearing toward this port a hero and 22 sailors he saved from one of the north Atlantic's maddest fits.

Captain Giles Stedman, rugged seadog from Quincy, Mass., expected to get his ship here by Tuesday with the survivors of the crew of the tiny British freighter Exeter City, crushed to a sinking mass of wreckage in a terrifying storm yesterday. The skipper of the Exeter City, believed to be Captain E. D. Lerg, was swept to death with his third officer and two men.

New glory for the United States Merchant Marine redounded from the feat of Captain Stedman, who in 1925 saved 28 men from the Italian steamship Ignazio Florio. Then he was chief officer of the liner President Harding.

The Exeter City, out of Fowey, England, carrying China clay for Portland, Me., was about 500 miles east of Cape Race, N. F., at dawn yesterday when her crew saw she was losing her death struggle with the elements. About 15 miles away the American merchant, plowing westbound with passengers and freight, caught the spine-chilling "S.O.S."

It was no small task even to turn a ship in those gigantic waves, but turn her Stedman did, and wallowed toward the scene. Three hours later the helpless Exeter City was seen. Bridge, chartroom and part of the saloon gone, her number 2 hatch holed, she even then was settling. Sleet drove like shrapnel under lowering clouds.

As the American merchant shuddered and groaned, an all-day fight began. The seas foiled an attempt to launch a lifeboat, snatching one boat to destruction. Twice after time the American merchant's line gun spat its rubber bullets toward the Exeter City, trying to get a line to her. At last the struggle to link the two ships succeeded.

A desperate and unusual method, the towing of a lifeboat back and forth between the two ships, carried the 22 men to safety after agonizing delays. Then the last of Stedman's terse radio message to shore: "Vessel abandoned in sinking condition, settling rapidly."

Gov. Lehman Hears Republican Requests

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 21. (AP)—Governor Lehman had before him today a demand of Republican state leaders for a Moreland act investigation of Attorney General John J. Bennett's office and a legislative investigation of alleged New York city voting frauds.

The Republican leaders, headed by W. Kingsland Macy, the party's state chairman, called upon the governor late yesterday bringing charges that the attorney general had followed "a determined policy to abandon all efforts by his office to enforce the election law" in the November election.

Governor Lehman was told that President Hoover, Colonel William J. Donovan, the Republican candidate for governor, and Lewis H. Pound, the Republican candidate for president-elect Roosevelt, Governor Lehman himself and Mayor O'Brien profited by the alleged voting irregularities.

The governor listened silently while the Republicans proposed a plan for close check and recheck upon the use of voting machines, including provision for a police record of the names of every person entering the voting machine with the voter.

Mr. Lehman refrained from comment, but smilingly gave his consent to a request that copies of the Republican's declarations might be distributed to newspaper men in his presence.

MacDonald May Come to Treat Debts

London, Jan. 21. (AP)—A trip by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald to the United States to discuss the war debt situation was deemed possible today.

The announcement that President-elect Roosevelt would welcome a British delegation early in March or as soon as practicable after he takes office brought forth speculation from political observers that Mr. MacDonald himself might go. There was no official announcement of the British plans.

When the British government paid its December debt installment to the United States with the unilateral reservations that the $95,500,000 should be credited to a future settlement, political observers immediately considered an Anglo-American debt parity would be scheduled early this year. Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, Clatter Runciman, president of the board of trade, and Stanley Baldwin, president of the council, were mentioned as likely members of a British mission.

Personal leadership of MacDonald in the interest of a new debt settlement would have the precedent of another government head's trip to Washington, that of Premier Pierre Laval of France in 1931.

Abernethy Bid in Jegher's Property

Property of the Jegher's Building Supply Company, Inc., at Rosendale, bankrupt, was offered for sale at public auction Thursday by Percy A. Joseph, auctioneer. John M. Cashin was receiver and Walter J. Miller, referee. Charles de la Vergne was attorney for the receiver. After considerable spirited bidding the lumber, hardware, cash, blinds and roofing was struck off to William F. Abernethy of this city for $2,630. The auctioneer called for bids on the real property but there were no bidders and the real property was not offered for sale.

Mr. Abernethy after the sale stated that he had purchased the lumber and building supplies for resale and that he would offer the materials at the Jegher yard in Rosendale as soon as it could be loaded and checked up. After the lumber has been checked he will unload the material at bargain prices. The lumber has been well housed and is in good condition for houses or general construction purposes.

TELLS MURROONEY HOW TO LESSEN CRIME WAVES.

John T. Cahill, assistant state attorney general, was one of the speakers at the luncheon of the Association of Grand Jurors of New York county held at the McAlpin Hotel Friday.

A feature of the meeting was the address of Police Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney, in which he developed the theory that "the crime situation might be improved through more killings and less legal technicality in the underworld." The commissioner thought a western sheriff who visited him recently had the right idea about crime. His prescription was "Less habeas corpus and more post mortems."

"Sara Crewe" Pleased School Children

The Broadway Theatre was well filled both on the ground floor and in the balcony on Friday afternoon with an excited audience of very interested children who had hurried there from school to see the "Sara Crewe" Major Children's Theatre presentation. Frances Hodgson Burnett's thrilling play, "Sara Crewe."

The ample sprinkling of parents, teachers and members of the Mothers' Association of St. Ursula, who have sponsored the two children's plays this season, enjoyed the play as much as did the children, which is saying a great deal.

While the little folks who attended "Snow White" were greatly impressed with that fairy tale, they could not quite reconcile their own ideas of "fairies" with the grown-up people on the stage so it was not real to them, though delightful.

But Sara Crewe was a real little girl, perfectly portrayed by Gene Magnus, a charming little Australian actress. The children just lived right along with Sara, her two schoolmates, jealous Lavinia and the poor little chore girl and hating Miss Minchin, the money-grabbing, hard hearted, cruel teacher of the private school where they first became acquainted with Sara.

Happy over the little heroine's riches which included many wonderful birthday gifts and a party, the children were heartbroken when it was discovered that her father had died having lost all of his money and especially when Miss Minchin made a servant of her and sent her, along with Becky to sleep in a tiny, cold room in the attic.

It was all so "really-true" as acted by the splendid cast that included Dorothy Major, that even Sara and Becky could not have been much happier than the children watching them when friends of Sara's father discovered her, and when her father's friend made known to her that she still was the "Little Princess," since her father's money had not been lost; and when he took her and Becky to live with him.

The play was presented in three scenes: Scene I, Miss Minchin's School; Scene II, in the Attic and Scene III, Next Door.

With the good times did not end, for the "Lived happily ever after" ending, for the children and their parents and teachers comprising the audience were invited by John F. Kenderline, associate director, to come onto the stage and meet the actors and actresses after the play, an invitation which they were quick to accept.

The procession of children shaking hands with the make-believe folks was a fine commentary on the realistic acting of the latter, for "Sara," "Becky," "Ermenegarde," "Ram Das" and "Mr. Carrisford" were approached with evident pleasure, while poor "Miss Minchin" received a very hasty and unenthusiastic handshake from the youngsters, who had apparently so keenly appreciated the little Sara whose culture of the heart was as genuine and lovely as the culture of her education was obvious.

Chinese Launch "Defense Moves"

Shanghai, Jan. 21. (AP)—China, as represented by the Nationalist party government leaders at Nanking, appeared becoming increasingly apprehensive today regarding possible future developments in the Sino-Japanese dispute.

Officials launched various "defense moves" such as the alleged strengthening of military garrisons on the Yellow Sea coast, and the Yangtze Valley—the river is traversed 150 miles by ocean vessels to such large cities as Nanking and Hankow.

Thousands of troops were reported being sent into the North China "war area." Reports said the Nationalist government was moving northward from Honan, South Chihli and Shantung provinces huge numbers of troops estimated at one quarter of a million men.

The movements continued, but conservative opinion considered the reported quarter million to be exaggerated.

Study Amount of Taxes from Liquor

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 21. (AP)—Just how far taxes on liquor could be relied upon to bolster the state revenues, in case the prohibition laws are modified, is one of the questions being considered around the capitol following the creation of the liquor commission this week to study the problems of liquor legislation.

Comptroller Morris S. Tremaine made public today figures which he has compiled regarding liquor revenues during the ten years before prohibition became effective. During that period, from 1910 to 1920, the state received $192,429,319.56 from liquor taxes, or nearly 10 per cent of its entire revenues.

Despite age and impaired health, Moore was active until near the end. He left an uncompleted task in which he was greatly engrossed—the editing and supervising of a complete edition of his works.

He also left an unfinished "modern" novel.

Committed to Jail

Patrick Russo, 21, of Milton, was home merchants, urged Mr. Martin, committed to the Ulster county jail Friday on a charge of contempt of court.

The council chamber on the third floor of the city hall was jammed by those attending the meeting of the unemployed men of the city held for the purpose of forming a temporary organization to work for the betterment of conditions among the idle workers of the city. Every seat in the large council hall was taken and men lined the walls and stood in the outer corridors to listen to the proceedings. The meeting moved swiftly and was one of the most orderly meetings ever held in the council chamber.

Peter C. Fisher, who had issued the call for the meeting, called the men to order at 7:30 o'clock and stated that the purpose of the meeting was to form an organization to assist the workers. He asked for nominations for the position of chairman of the temporary organization and J. Philip Beichert, a former alderman of the Second ward and a former president of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association, was the unanimous choice of the men. Mr. Fisher was selected as secretary. Later in the meeting former Mayor Palmer Canfield and City Assessor William B. Martin, who addressed the gathering, were, on motion, made honorary chairmen of the organization.

Former Mayor Canfield was the first speaker of the meeting and outlined what the underlying idea back of the meeting was. He said that by forming a temporary non-political organization the men would be better able to look after their own interests and also assist in city government. The organization should be only for the benefit of the workers. Mr. Canfield said that there were at least 3,000 men out of work in Kingston at the present time, and that only about 2,000 of them had registered with the work relief bureau.

Must Help Themselves. Mr. Canfield suggested as one of the ideas the organization could take up was making a survey of the whole city to ascertain how many men were idle and also to ascertain how many men had steady work, and to find out how many of those who were steadily employed would be willing to pledge work to idle men and the number of days' work they were willing to pledge. A survey should also be made of the industrial plants to see if it was possible for them to pledge any days' work to idle men.

Home relief and work relief have both reached a peak where they are becoming a burden to the taxpayers, warned the speaker, who said that the city had done its best to meet its obligation.

A Clearance Committee. In addition to the survey Mr. Canfield suggested the appointment of a clearance committee who would have some of its members on hand at all times in the unemployed headquarters that had been opened on central Broadway. Mr. Canfield said that some of the unemployed men had claimed they were not receiving their fair share of work, and if any felt aggrieved they could call a headquarters and the clearance committee members would take up the matter with the work relief bureau.

Mr. Canfield said that an organization could do more for the worker than the single individual could do for himself.

Canfield Invited Martin. City Assessor William B. Martin, who is also a former president of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association, was the second speaker of the evening. He said that when Mr. Canfield had asked him if he would assist in forming a temporary organization he had gladly agreed to assist. He said that he had been a union man for many years and realized that it was only by organization that results could be obtained. Mr. Martin said that federal, state and local government must receive the cooperation of the workers; that no mayor had ever entered upon his duties facing a more difficult problem than had Mayor Eugene B. Carey, and that he had worked hard on the unemployment problem.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 21 (AP).—The stock market was more inclined to edge upward today, than otherwise, but the whole was stagnant.

Trading was in extremely small volume, with a turnover for the two sessions of about 339,000 shares.

Fractional gains and losses were spread through the list at the finish. The average net change was unimportant.

The weekly report of freight car loadings, showing a fair seasonal gain, was one clearly in keeping with expectations to affect the market.

Week-end business was generally quiet, with no new light on the outlook, and the market still adhered to a watchful waiting attitude. While steel production has had a fair seasonal upturn from the low levels of the holiday period, some reports indicated that the gain may be held with some difficulty in the next week or so.

The market showed traces of firmness during the first half of the session, when a number of issues gained fractions to more than a point. Some selling appeared in the leaders in the late trading, however, and the close was barely steady.

General motors was firm, closing up a fraction. Corn products was up 1 1/2 at the best, but lost half its rise. Liggett and Myers B closed a point higher. Crown Cork and Seal, Illinois Glass were up major fractions at the close.

The car loadings report, for the week ended January 14, was the first of the new year which was not distorted by the holiday. The total, 594,322 cars, was 76,670 cars above the previous week, and 66,327 under the like week of last year. It was 17 1/2 per cent under 1932, and about 30 per cent under 1931.

In commodities cotton eased a little in the later trading, closing 10 to 25 cents a bale lower. In foreign exchanges, sterling cables ruled 1/4 higher at $3.35 1/2, and the European gold currencies were mostly firm, particularly the Swiss franc.

WORLD GOVERNMENT CHANGES IN 1932

Spain and Iraq Most Important Nations Affected.

Washington.—Removal of mandate restrictions from Iraq and its elevation into an independent state, was one of the outstanding changes affecting the world's family of nations during the past year, according to a bulletin from the National Geographic society's headquarters in Washington. Among the other important changes listed in the summary are the creation of Manchukuo, the setting up of Catalonia as an autonomous unit within the Spanish republic, and the granting of a constitution to the king of Spain.

"Iraq is the first of the group of mandated territories established following the World war to graduate into the group of independent nations," says the bulletin. "Great Britain gave up all of its special privileges as holder of the mandate, and the new state became a full fledged member of the League of Nations."

"Following Japanese occupation of Manchuria, that territory, together with the Province of Jehol to the west, was made into the state of Manchukuo with Pu Yi, one-time heir to the Chinese empire, as ruler. Western powers have not officially recognized the new state."

Catalonia Given Autonomy.
"The granting of autonomy to Catalonia, made up of the four provinces of northeastern Spain, fulfilled the aspirations which the Catalonians have held for centuries. The newly empowered state has a unique status among the major divisions of the Spanish republic. It has its own parliament, cabinet, and courts, and will collect its own taxes. Foreign affairs, however, will remain under control of the central government at Madrid."

"After an almost bloodless revolution during the past summer, King Prajadhipok of Siam promised a constitution. This new charter for the Siam was made public on November 19."

"In Arabia no major changes in boundaries or sovereignties took place during the year, but the principal state of the peninsula received a new name. The country embracing all of central Arabia and extending from the Red sea to the Persian gulf, formerly known as the Kingdoms of the Hejaz and Nejd, was, early in October, given the title, 'Kingdom of Saudi Arabia'."

"Ararat, one of the most famous mountains in the world, changed hands during 1932. The mountain was traded to Turkey by Persia in exchange for a strip of territory along the Turkish-Persian border to the south."

"Next to the fighting in Manchuria, the longest continued military conflict during 1932 over boundaries or sovereignties has been that in the Gran Chaco of South America between Bolivia and Paraguay. Each contestant demands that its title to this large region south of the center of the continent shall be recognized. In late weeks spirited fighting has continued along the strip of territory which extends through the center of the Chaco."

Merry-Go-Round in Chile.
"Since June 1, Chile has had five changes in presidents, and for a time was ruled by a socialist regime. The changes have all been effected other than by elections, but little fighting has occurred."

"The latest armed contest over territory in South America began in August on the Putumayo River, one of the headwater streams of the Amazon system. The dispute was initiated when Peruvian citizens seized the town of Leticia from Colombia. The community is still in the hands of Peruvians."

"In the Near East a dispute between Syria and Iraq over their common boundary line between the Euphrates and Tigris rivers was advanced toward solution by a report of the Syro-Iraqi frontier commission to the League of Nations, recommending a line which lay between those claimed by the two contestants."

"A frontier contest which involved the operation of customs between France and Switzerland was settled amicably by a decision of the Court of International Justice at The Hague (a Gravenhage) during June. The decision was in favor of Switzerland and operated to permit a free customs zone near Geneva, but in French territory. France formally accepted the decision in September and ordered the withdrawal of her customs officials from the zone."

"Work toward solution of the boundary dispute between Guatemala and Honduras in Central America, was carried toward a decision by an arbitration commission headed by Chief Justice Hughes. The United States War department played an important part in this work by assigning army air corps flyers last summer to prepare an aerial map of the disputed line."

"The controversy between Norway and Denmark over portions of the east coast of Greenland is still under consideration by the Court of International Justice at The Hague."

She's Mother of 26.
Pauken, Germany.—Mrs. Katie Heisel is the type of woman esteemed by governments that shoulder the specter of declining birthrates. She has had 26 children, all living today. What's more her eldest daughter, aged twenty-nine, has had 10 babies, and her second daughter has had seven.

Democracy.
Democracy is not merely the government of a majority. It is rather the government which best expresses the country as a whole, and towards this ideal the power assigned legally to the majority is merely a mechanical means.

DR. BIRCH GIVES TALK ON CATTLE DISEASE CONTROL
Dr. R. R. Birch of the New York State Veterinary College gave a very interesting talk on the control of dairy cattle diseases before a large group of dairymen and veterinarians at the County Court House Friday night. The meeting was arranged for by the Farm Bureau dairy committee, to help dairymen control some of the important diseases which are of economic importance to them. The fact was brought out that over 90 per cent of the cattle in the county are now tested for bovine tuberculosis, but Bang abortion and mastitis are both causing heavy losses each year.

Dr. Birch stated that the testing for Bang's disease would be just as general in the future as the testing for bovine tuberculosis is at present. He encouraged the breeders of dairy cattle to seriously consider the matter if they have not already started a control program. The principles of the plan outlined by Dr. Birch include testing, segregation and ultimate disposal. The test is the important basis upon which to determine a control program. He also explained the official plan by which herds now tested may be recorded with the State Department of Agriculture.

At The Theatres

Today.

Kingston: "The Kid from Spain." Acclaimed by critics everywhere as the best thing Eddie Cantor has appeared in on the talking screen, this lavish, humorous and completely entertaining picture of bull fighting, bull throwing, comedy, gorgeous girls and tuneful songs is recommended to all as something well worth seeing. The plot is typical musical comedy. Eddie Cantor, at the start of the show, is implicated in a robbery, and in order to save himself from trouble, Mr. Cantor flees to another country, where he is introduced as the greatest bull fighter of all time. Naturally this gets him into difficulties, especially so when an admiring populace asks him to demonstrate his great skill in the arena. Others in the cast are Lydia Robert, who is very effective as a Spanish senorita, Robert Young, Ruth Hall, John Miljan and Sidney Franklin. American bull fighters are also members of the large cast.

Orpheum: "Local Boy Makes Good" and "Get That Girl." Joe E. Brown uses his peculiar talents to advantage in this show of a home town boy who makes good at college. Dorothy Lee, Elliot Nugent, and Ruth Hall are members of the cast. "Get That Girl" with Richard Talmadge, is a melodrama of the old school, filled with action and thrills.

Broadway: "Silver Lining" with Maureen O'Sullivan and Betty Compson.

Tomorrow.

Kingston: Same.

Orpheum: "Street of Women" and "Hidden Valley." Kay Francis and Roland Young are the principals in the first picture, while Bob Steele is up to his usual tricks in the second, a western mystery drama with its share of action. Another episode of the serial "Last of The Mohicans" will also be shown at each performance.

THE GREATEST THING

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

WHAT is the greatest thing in life? The man of arms may say the strife.

The man of trade may say the mart—
Yet who takes money to his heart
Will find her faithless, and the cheers
Of victory mean some one's tears.

What is the greatest thing of all?
The rich may say the castle hall.
The proud may say the wreath of fame—

Yet earthly glory fades the same
As earthly wealth. There must be more.

What is the greatest thing we find?
The wise may say the learned mind.
The fool his passions and delights—
Yet life some sudden question writes
Fools cannot answer, nor wise
Do more than wonder and surmise.

What is the greatest thing? Not these Poor things that either pain or please.
To love, to feel, to smile, to grieve,
To know, to know but much believe—
For, looks or pleasure, wealth or strife.
The greatest thing in life is life.

Book of Fashions, Winter 1932-1933. Send 15c in silver or stamps for our WINTER BOOK OF FASHIONS, containing designs of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Patterns, also Hints to the Home Dressmaker.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

At White Sulphur Springs, it is reported that the "woman with the best clothes" wore one plain black crepe dress for evening on seven successive nights, changing her appearance entirely on each occasion with different scarfs, jackets, capelets, belts, jewelry.

Wraps for resort wear or for the spring season look very new in matelasse weaves. White is especially important, endorsed in untrimmed versions or introducing dark furs such as sable or silver fox. These wraps are appearing in all lengths, from the waistlength bloused type to loose, three-quarter lengths.

Occasionally a cape collar is shirred in front, giving a soft drapery appearance that is new, or it may be draped to the side, suggesting a demitasse. These ideas are developed in fabric as well as in fur, effective in contrasting materials.

Scarfs draped in the manner of the cowl neckline and bandanna kerchiefs are other expressions of this theme.

Women who have last season's dresses with low necklines will want to change them if possible, so capelets with stand-up collars, starched linen plastrons deep and wide enough to hide a cutout V, knitted yokes and cuffs, are some of the items which suggest themselves for the purpose.

A shoe that is liked, although not new, is the single-strap pump, with straight leather heel; this is worn with straps wide enough for two-button fastening, quarters in kid or fox, and vamp in antelope, the advantage being that the solid calf supports the instep but the softer antelope gives ease for the toes.

Candy striped pique has been an immediate success in both printed and woven variations. It appears in simple sports dresses.

Sponsored for spring are such combinations as navy blue with white, also black with white in various crepes. Gray combined with wine, also gray combined with navy, are also favored.

Important for spring or resort wear is the three-piece costume that is also in three tones, beige for the skirt, for example, coppers for the blouse and the coat brown.

Approval is expressed for the printed satin dress for the woman who likes variety in her wardrobe, and who is thus able to combine the charm of a print with a lustrous fabric.

Taffeta elected for revival in spring fashions

Taffeta for the blouse is especially well favored, brightening with its crisp quality the contrast of colorful blouses that is so strongly advocated. In the model above a blue and white checked blouse is made with ruffled jabot buttoned on a panel, with blue and silver buttons. Below, a modern robe de style is developed in sapphire blue taffeta and has many features of interest—a slashed neckline, wrapped skirt treatment, crisp bows and an irregular neckline.

A black taffeta dress for afternoon wear introduces white embroidered organza to maintain the crisp air. The revers, tucked sleeves and pleated detail in the skirt are attractive features.

Plaid taffeta makes a smart contrast with navy blue rough crepe in a cape costume, the taffeta used in the development of the blouse and scarf with bow.

The scarf in the lower left hand corner is a plaid effectively combining lemon yellow and navy, taffeta combining in turn with red and blue satin. It is suggested to wear knotted under the suede belt.

The next taffeta scarf is the jaunty cravat type with fringed ends. It is in canary color. The edges are hand rolled, and one way of wearing it is illustrated.

The cuff turban worn with it is of gold color "taffeta soufflé," with perky black lacquered quills posed in front.

At the left of this is a visor-brimmed shape in gray taffeta, the crown and brim enveloped in sections with shirred bands. A self twist trims the back.

At right of the group is the cloche sailor type with telescope crown, in a stitched navy blue taffeta, banded with blue and white organdie.

There's a Glamour About Fringe

New York—When fringe is "out," it is very, very much out, but when it is in, we are once more reminded of that little girl with the curl. At the moment, fringe is just different enough to set one a-flutter over the idea of wearing it, particularly if it happens to be one's first fringed frock.

They do say that shawls are on their way back, and while there is no law that says shawls must be fringed, so many of them are that, when one gets to dreaming about those castles in Spain, one is bound to conjure up fringed shawls as well as fringed dresses. Yet the arrangement of the little shawl illustrated—or would you call it a cape?—could hardly be described as dashing, an adjective one usually associates with anything of Spanish inspiration. This is for a Spanish lady in an off moment, when she is not carrying a rose in her teeth or being fascinating according to the old Spanish custom.

But when she takes off that cape, she gets right back into character! I know, because I have seen what's under it and, between ourselves, there wasn't much to it.

If you are still velvet-minded, here's your model, but it is also very chic in flat crepe or in one of the sheers about which, as time goes on, you will hear more and more. No season in which there is even a hint of economy fails to have its transparent black dresses. It may be lace, it may be chiffon, or it may be one of the new sheers—each with a name all its own but belonging nevertheless to the sheer family and bearing a strong family resemblance to the other members.

It's quite simple, really. If you want something soft and clingy, so-called a sheer. If you want something dashing, select taffeta.

Goodness and Weakness

"It is unfortunate," said H. H. Ho, the sage of Chinatown, "for a people to be so accustomed to harsh authority as to regard a word of gentleness as a display of weakness."

The reason why so few of us achieve happiness is that we change our goal every two or three years.

The good old-fashioned marriage of "to have and to hold," seems to be modernized to "to have and to cold."

The Question of Beauty
Beauty lurks in simple things—harvest moon with mellow light, the music of a violin heard sweetly clear across the night, beauty lurks in simple things—baby's face upturned to smile, the handclasp of a faithful friend, the woods arrayed in autumn style, beauty lurks in simple things, melody in summer rains, a searcher for true loveliness has ever looked for it in vain.

At one of our Western military posts there was a young recruit who during the first few weeks of his army life was made the victim of so many Army jokes that he doubted if men and their motives. One night while he was pulling his first tour of guard duty, the tall figure of one of the regimental officers loomed up in the darkness before him.

Recruit—Halt! Who goes there?
Officer—Major Moses.
Recruit (scenting another practical joke)—Advance Moses and give me Ten Commandments.

Husbands seem to be somewhat like lobsters—they don't all agree with you, and are easily spoiled.

The Writing Horse
"Germinal," the writing stallion, was trained by his owner, Doctor Rouhet of France. The most interesting feat of this intelligent equine was his ability to write legibly and neatly with the aid of a brush fastened in his mouth. Upon being articulated by his master, he could put down any of the twelve words with which the stallion was familiar.

Kingston Trounces Newburgh, 44-32

Kingston High played its first DUSO League contest of the season Friday night in Newburgh against the Academy and won, 44-32. The game was a typical Newburgh battle, fast and aggressive and outside of the sport on the part of the Hill City team in the last quarter, Kingston had the lead, less worry, for the other three quarters.

Newburgh started out by rallying a field and a foul before Kingston found the hoop. Then Zeck dropped two fouls and Kingston was under way; but before the regular stride was hit there were many bad passes and shots that went "thru wire." For a time it seemed as though Kingston was going to be left in the rear ranks but the team finally hit on all four and Newburgh slipped once and for all. Kingston led at the half, 21-14.

Both squads put up a good defensive game with the Academy having the advantage slightly, when it came to height. However, intercepted passes seemed to number about the same on both sides, and this bursting up of the teams' offensive gave the large crowd many things to get excited over.

Third Of Charity Game Money Given

West Point, N. Y., Jan. 21 (AP).—One-third of the net proceeds of the last Army-Navy football game has been contributed to charity. It was announced today by Major General W. D. Connor, superintendent of the United States Military Academy.

The bulk of the money contributed went to the Army Relief Society for West Point and Navy Relief Society for Annapolis, but additional contributions have been made to the local relief society in the home town of each member of the football squads. "The proceeds from the Army-Navy game," said General Connor's statement, "were considerably smaller in 1932 than they were in 1930 and 1931, owing to the lower price charged for tickets."

LaBarba Signs For Watson Bout

New York, Jan. 21 (AP).—Fidel LaBarba has been signed to meet Seaman Watson, British featherweight champion, in Madison Square Garden next Friday night, thus giving the two a chance to repeat itself.

The sturdy Californian, once king of the world's flyweights, was selected yesterday as a substitute for Kid Chocolate, recognized in this state as featherweight champion, who was to have met Watson in a title bout next week, but was deported from Key West, Fla., on Thursday for failure to obtain a department of labor permit. Under revised plans, Chocolate will defend his title against the winner of the LaBarba-Watson match sometime in February.

Marelio Finishes Training.
Johnny Marelio, local Italian lightweight, finished training today for his bout with Eddie Turner in Albany, Monday night. Turner holds the title of his class in the Amateur Federation of Sports Clubs. It will be at stake in his bout with Marelio.

—By Pap Says Record Crowd Will Attend Bouts For the Unemployed

Les Barth, custodian of the American Legion building, took time out from a pinocchio game at the club Friday night to say that he is being kept busy writing down orders for reserved seats for the card of benefit bouts at the old armory Monday night, January 23. The genial Les is an expert at taking phone calls for reserves, having handled the job for the Legion bouts last summer, and his word goes a long way in predictions concerning attendance.

Last night the ex-doughboy, who takes a hand at doing all the odd jobs around the Memorial building, including the task of playing Santa Claus, informed a reporter that seats for the boxing show are selling rapidly and that he expects the card of bouts for the unemployed to be attended by a record crowd. So, according to Les, the Volunteer Aid Committee, which will handle the distributing of money made on the bouts, will have a nice sum with which to do charity work among the unemployed.

Ladies To Attend
Commenting on the sale of seats and the attendance, Expert Barth indicated that he would not be surprised to see an exceptionally large number of feminine fight fans at the scraps. "The ladies have been calling a lot for tickets," said Les, "and from the tone of enthusiasm registered by their voices I think they'll surely be at the bouts with their husbands or boy-friends."

Les also said that talk among the Legionnaires indicates that Commander Sam N. Mann's boys will form a great part of the army of spectators. Reports from other clubs in the city also indicate big representations, so there probably will be a rush on all seats the night of the fights. Those who contemplate sitting in the close-up section are advised to order their reserved seats before Monday. A chat with Les Barth at the Legion, phone 1914, will fix this matter.

Of course the card has been well advertised, and the ability of the featured fighters heralded far and wide, so there is little to comment upon concerning this part of the benefit program. But for those who may not have heard, or been informed otherwise, the main bout will be between Willie Barrow, Poughkeepsie slugger, and "Bam" Larkin of Brooklyn. In the semi-final, Jerry Wright, Golden Gloves champion, will meet Joe Barza, Brooklyn bruiser. The show is an entire heavyweight affair, with the exception of the match between Mickey Raymond, Flatbush middleweight prize, and Bobby Smith, a 169-pounder from Poughkeepsie. Starting time of the fights is 8:30.

Latest News from The Baseball Front

By Herbert W. Baker, Associated Press Sports Writer.
New York, Jan. 21 (AP).—News of the baseball front has suddenly turned bullish.

Not a single new holdout appeared anywhere on the horizon during the past 24 hours and such well-known exponents of the art of arguing over salary matters as Floyd Caves Herman and Heinie Meine Meekely came to terms.

While Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Vernon Gomez and others still are listed on the holdout list, baseball observers pointed out that many ranking stars of the game have been prompt in signing contracts for 1933. In addition to Herman and Meine, these include the Warner brothers, Bill Terry, Goose Goslin, Charley Gehring, Freddie Lindstrom, George Davis, Al Simmons and Joe Vosmik.

Herman, one of the most determined holdouts in the past, quickly came to terms yesterday after conferring at Los Angeles with his new boss, William L. Veeck, president of the Chicago Cubs. Salary terms were not announced. Veeck took time out in a busy day to purchase outfielder George Stainback, from Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast League. In exchange the Cubs will give cash, Pitcher Ed Baecht, Outfielder Marvin Gudat and a pitcher as yet unannounced.

Heine paid a courtesy call on W. E. Benswanger, president of the Pittsburgh Pirates, and ended by accepting terms for next season. He was a persistent holdout last year and his late start after he finally did come to terms, did his record no particular good. He won 12 and lost nine games as compared with 19 victories and 13 defeats in 1931, when the Pirates were not nearly so strong.

Joe Vosmik, sensational outfielder for the Cleveland Indians, looked at contract over and decided all was well. Although confirmation was lacking, it was understood he was given an increase.

The New York Yankees announced they had received signed contracts from two players but neither happened to be Babe Ruth. They were from young players who will be identified later for the benefit of a palpitating public. There were rumblings around Yankee headquarters that the well-known Kentucky Colonel, Earle Combs, was not exactly pleased with what he had been offered for next year.

The New York Giants kept up the good work as they succeeded in getting Haghey Citi's signature to a contract. To offset this, however, the Grapevine Telegraph had it that Freddy Fitzsimmons' contract, unsigned, had come bouncing back to the business office.

Heslira and Winand, who made 17 and 12 points respectively. For the Repealers, H. Smith turned in 16, Jimmy McGinn 12 and Norm Niles, 10.

In the preliminary the Fuller Girls overwhelmed the Holy Cross Laddies, 37-13. Sally Gage and B. Smedes starring for the winners with 16 and 10 points in the order named. Miss Gumaer turned in 7 for the Holy Cross team.

KINGSTON GREET'S NEW 100 H.P. $1000 COMMANDER

NEW 5-PASSENGER SEDAN, $1075 F. O. B. FACTORY, IS ONE OF 12 SUPERS MODELS IN STUDEBAKER'S NEW COMMANDER SERIES PRICED FROM $1000 UPWARDS

Studebaker Presents Startling New Line of Cars Priced from $840 to $2040

Fresh from its sensational premiere at the New York Automobile Show, Studebaker's new 100 horsepower Commander Eight has arrived in town and is attracting ever increasing crowds to the local Studebaker showrooms.

Scheduled to sell for as little as $1000 f. o. b. factory, this remarkable new Studebaker is replete with 54 betterments including that marvelous advancement, Power Brakes, as well as a new, exclusively Studebaker system of entirely automatic carburetion and manifold.

While the fact that a 100 horsepower Commander at $1000 continues to be the spotlight news of the current Studebaker showing, local Studebaker officials point out that the two new President Eights and the new Studebaker Six are equally extraordinary values.

First with free wheeling and first in its price field with free safety glass in all windows and all windshields of all models, Studebaker again leads its price field with the year's stand-out development—Power Brakes—available in all Studebakers, even the low priced Six, without extra charge.

It is interesting to note how thoroughly Studebaker keeps in advance of style trends as well as engineering trends in its price field. Many of the features spoken of as new by other cars this year are an old story to Studebaker owners. Roominess, for example, obtained by providing each Studebaker a wider tread, was a big factor in giving the 1932 Studebaker line its widespread acceptance. And the 1933 Studebakers are not only equally commodious but they have been given new touches of luxury in upholstery, stery, seat cushions and fittings that keep them far in advance of the procession.

You notice also that the 1933 Studebakers are decidedly low swung. This effect is secured by mounting the Studebaker frame on smaller wheels which give the whole car increased roadability and steadiness while increasing the aerodynamic appearance.

Local Studebaker headquarters say that a majority of all requests for appraisals since the 1933 cars arrived come from people interested in the new $1000 Commander. Arrangements for demonstration drives in the 100 horsepower $1000 Commander and the other Studebaker models have been so well organized that there is very little waiting involved.
